

SURGERY GRAND ROUNDS

Self Assessment Questions

Department of Surgery, University of Louisville
Auditorium, Lower Level, Ambulatory Care Building
7:00 – 8:00 a.m.

September 9, 2011

“Current Issues Relating to Management of Abdominal Aortic Aneurysms”

Peter R. Nelson, M.D.

Assistant Professor of Surgery, Vascular Surgery
University of Florida

1. Only about 20% of Abdominal Aortic Aneurysms are candidates for endovascular treatment.

Answer: False

2. Ruptured Abdominal Aortic Aneurysms require open operations in all clinical circumstances.

Answer: False

3. Large endoleaks require treatment by open or endovascular methods in most cases.

Answer: True

4. Endovascular treatment has significantly decreased the mortality from Abdominal Aortic Aneurysm rupture in the population of the U.S.

Answer: False